

May 20, 2013

On Saturday, May 11, 2013, Joel Zuckerman gave a wonderful presentation to our group of fifty Landings Club members. This dinner concluded a week-long tournament called the "Varmint Cup," celebrating its fourteenth year, and during which 24 gentlemen compete on two teams in a Ryder Cup-style tournament.

After dinner, Joel gave his presentation accompanied by an entertaining series of PowerPoint slides focusing on "Why we play Golf" and about his recent book, Pro's Pros-Extraordinary Club Professionals Making Golf Great!

Joel's talk was interesting, fast-paced, and entertaining. His comments and photographs of our own J.D. Turner and Nicole Weller were of special interest to this group, and the comments and well-researched information about other Pros were equally well-received.

Joel met with me a few weeks prior to this dinner to assure that the setting and the equipment would function well. His timing was excellent, arriving on time, graciously visiting with the group before dinner, and limiting his talk to exactly the specified time restrictions.

We received many positive comments from the group about Joel's presentation, and I highly recommend him for a keynote speaker at any golf-related event.

Sincerely,
