Dear Joel,

I can't thank you enough for agreeing to be the guest speaker for our Player of the Year dinner this past Thursday. Your presentation was educational, entertaining, interesting to everyone present.

It is rare to find one who can hold the interest of an audience consisting of such a broad spectrum, but you managed to do so. Over the past two days I have been receiving compliments from the Membership and from the staff for a memorable and fun evening. Your presentation added the class and professionalism that catapulted our event to the next level. I particularly enjoyed the inspirational story about Greg Norman and Tom Watson. It is obvious that you too have the "watch this" attitude.

Your efforts to promote the game to our audience are greatly appreciated. As a PGA Professional, and the Chair of the Play Golf America committee for the Georgia PGA, I am aware of the numbers, but nonetheless continue to find them absolutely stunning. I intend to read your newest book, Pro's Pro, and apply the knowledge acquired to my own mission of growing the game. I also intend to be in a future edition of one of your books, perhaps once I gain a few more decades experience.

Thank you for being so easy to work with, for staying around after the program to chat with my Members, and for personally signing all of those books. You were fantastic.

Sincerely,

Robert Stevenson, PGA
Director of Golf
